

INSTRUCTIONS FOR AUTHORS

Submission of Manuscripts

The JBS welcomes manuscript submissions from all social science and business disciplines, as well as border-specific manuscripts from other disciplines. The border emphasis is global. Work from any discipline that illuminates border problems, characteristics, issues and realities in any part of the world is acceptable for manuscript review.

It is important that the manuscript deals in a substantive way with the border-related aspects of the topic. It should not just be the results of a study in a border region without significant consideration of transboundary influences and characteristics. Manuscripts are blind reviewed by at least two qualified readers. Inquiries and manuscripts should be sent to:

Emmanuel Brunet-Jailly, (ebrunetj@uvic.ca), CPSS/LGI, University of Victoria, PO Box 1700 STN CSC, Victoria, BC, V8W2Y2, Canada or

Henk van Houtum (h.vanhoutum@fm.ru.nl) and Martin van der Velde (M.vanderVelde@ru.nl), Radboud University, Nijmegen Centre for Border Research, PO Box 9108, 6500 HK Nijmegen, The Netherlands

The editors will assume that submission of an article to the JBS indicates that the manuscript has not been published elsewhere.

If manuscripts are accepted and published, all rights, including subsidiary rights, are assigned to the JBS. The author retains the right to use the article after it has been published in the JBS without charge, for any book or anthology of which he or she is author or editor, and to reproduce copies for classroom or for other noncommercial use.

Notes and comments concerning articles previously published in the JBS are also welcomed.

Electronic Submission

Send an e-mail, with "JBS Manuscript Submission" in the subject line and include the manuscript as an attachment to the editors respectively. Manuscripts with a clear geographical focus on the Americas should be sent to E. Brunet-Jailly, whereas the ones with a European or Near Eastern focus including North Africa should be sent to Henk van Houtum and Martin van der Velde. Other manuscripts can be sent to either address. In the body of the e-mail, include the name of the author(s), his/her institutional affiliation and college or department, position or title, academic rank, and the name, address, telephone, fax and e-mail of the contact person with respect to the submitted manuscript. Please include this same information on a cover page at the beginning of the manuscript. The electronic manuscript should be in either MS Word or WordPerfect (preferred formats).

Preparation of Copy

The electronic manuscript should be single spaced and include the cover page with the contact information at the beginning of the manuscript. Subsequent pages should include the title, abstract, introduction, the body of the manuscript (to include all indented material and tables), endnotes and references. Number all pages consecutively.

A separate electronic file clearly identifying and defining all mathematical symbols must be attached. All graphs and illustrations should be submitted in separate files (see Format of Graphs, Illustrations and Tables). Indicate clearly where graphs or illustrations should appear in the text. A note in the text in brackets will be sufficient, as in the following example:

The JBS prefers the use of citations in parentheses within the text, and the use of footnotes is unacceptable. Endnotes may be used for substantive observations but not for the purpose of citing sources.

Endnotes must appear separately at the end of the body of the manuscript prior to the references.

There is no need to use ibid., op. cit., loc. cit., and so forth. Each reference to the same source should appear in exactly the same format with the possible exception of different page numbers indicated.

JBS-preferred styles for in text citations and references follow the Chicago Manual of Style, 15th Edition unless otherwise indicated (see Format of In Text Citation and References).

Italicize all foreign words and provide their translation into English. When using acronyms, provide their definitions on the first use in the manuscript, and if in a foreign language, provide the translation.

Please do not use fancy fonts or formatting for manuscripts submitted to the JBS. Formatting complexities cause problems with the typesetting software used by the JBS. For the body of the text, use Times or Times New Roman 10 point font. Headings should be in all capitals and bold.

Subheadings should be in initial capitals and lowercase. The page orientation should be set to "letter" and "portrait." Left and right margins should be set to 1.88 inches (4.76 centimeters), and top and bottom margins to 1.50 inches (3.81 centimeters).

This will approximate the printable area of the JBS and will provide a guide for the sizing and orientation of graphs, illustrations and tables.

Format of Text

All references to monographs, articles, and statistical sources are to be identified at an appropriate point in the text by last name of author, year of publication and pagination when appropriate—all within parentheses. Be sure that the year and the spelling of the authors' names within the parentheses exactly match those in the reference list.

Frequently, manuscripts have to be returned a second time to authors because the reference list and the parenthetical citations in the text (including endnotes) do not agree.

Problems include the item referenced in the text not appearing in the list of references at the end of the manuscript, the year of the citation within the text not agreeing with the year listed in the reference section, inconsistent spelling of authors' names, and failure to include accents and other diacriticals for foreign-language references (due to some typographic limitations some diacriticals may not appear exactly as in the original text).

In Text Citation Placement*

An author-date citation in running text or at the end of a block quotation consists of the last (family) name of the author, followed by the year of publication of the work in question. In this context, "author" may refer not only to one or more authors or an institution but also to one or more editors, translators, or compilers. No punctuation appears between author and date.

Abbreviations such as ed. or trans. are omitted (unless an original and an edited work by the same person appeared in the same year, in which case ed. would be added to the text citation where appropriate).

(Pacini 1997)

(U.S. Department of Transportation 1998)

Parenthetical citations are placed just before a mark of punctuation. Recent literature has examined longrun price drifts following initial public offerings (Ritter 1991; Loughran and Ritter 1995), stock splits (Ikenberry, Rankine, and Stice 1996), seasoned equity offerings (Loughran and Ritter 1995), and equity repurchases (Ikenberry, Lakonishok, and Vermaelen 1995).

If the author of a source referred to appears in the text, it need not be repeated in a parenthetical citation.

Litman (1983) finds that Academy Award nominations or winnings are significantly related to revenues.

Although citation of a source normally follows a direct quotation, it may precede the quotation if syntax permits.

As Edward Tufte points out (2001, 139), “a graphical element may carry data information and also perform a design function usually left to non data-ink.”

Note: The source of a block quotation is given within parentheses at the end of the quotation and in the same type size. The opening parenthesis appears after the final punctuation mark of the quoted material. No period either precedes or follows the closing parenthesis.

...pertaining to the area. Additional studies concluded that there were inefficiencies in the system involving support services. (Gonzalez 2001, 234)

When a reference list includes two or more works published in the same year by the same author or authors, the text citations as well as the reference list must use the letters “a,” “b,” and so on.

(Beijing Zoo 1974a)

For works by two or three authors, all names are included. The word “and” is used, not an ampersand.

(Hollingsworth and Sockett 1994b)

(Yoskowitz, Pisanni, and García 2000)

For four or more authors, only the name of the first author is used, followed by “et al.” or “and others.” Note that “et al.” is not italicized in text citations.

(Zipursky et al. 1997)

In a study by Zipursky and others (1997), the data pointed...

Two or more references in a single parenthetical citation are separated by semicolons. The order in which they are given may depend on what is being cited, and in what order, or it may reflect the relative importance of the items cited. If neither criterion applies, alphabetical or chronological order may be appropriate.

(Armstrong and Malacinski 1989;

Beigl 1989; Pickett and White 1985)

Additional works by the same author(s) are given by date only, separated by commas except where page numbers are required.

(Whittaker 1967, 1975; Wiens 1989a, 1989b)

(Wong 1998, 28; 1999, 475)

For further examples of citations consult the Chicago Manual of Style 15th Edition.

Format of In Text Citations and References*

At the end of the text, after the endnotes (if any), the full listing of all items included as references within parentheses in the text should appear in a section titled References. The JBS prefers that the full names of authors be used. Last name and first initials may be used, but the listing must be consistent. There should be no mixing of either format within the references. Headline style capitalization should be used and only book titles are italicized. For references in foreign languages, please translate parts of the reference such as month, volume, city of publication, and so forth.

Following are some examples of in text citations and their corresponding reference formats:

Book with One Author

Schellinger, Paul, Christopher Hudson, and Marijk Rijsberman, eds. 1998. Encyclopedia of the Novel. Chicago: Fitzroy Dearborn.

More than Three Authors

For works by four to ten persons, all names are given in the reference list. In a note or text citation, only the name of the first author is included, followed by “and others” or “et al.” with no intervening comma. Note that these are not italicized in parenthetical citations.

Scholarly or Professional Journal

In reference lists, the volume number follows the journal title without intervening punctuation and is not in italics. Arabic numerals are used even if the journal itself uses roman numerals.

(Terborgh 1974)

In reference lists, the volume number follows the journal title without intervening punctuation and is not in italics. Arabic numerals are used even if the journal itself uses roman numerals.

(Terborgh 1974)

Terborgh, J. 1974. Preservation of Natural Diversity: The Problem of Extinction-Prone Species. BioScience 24: 715-22.

In reference lists, the issue number is in parentheses.

Allison, G. W. 1999. The Implications of Experimental Design for Biodiversity Manipulations. American Naturalist 153 (1): 26-45.

When a journal uses issue numbers only, without volume numbers, a comma follows the journal title.

Meyerovitch, Eva. 1959. The Gnostic Manuscripts of Upper Egypt. Diogenes, no. 25: 84-117.

When the year itself serves as volume number, it is an indispensable element and should therefore not be enclosed in parentheses. A comma follows the journal title.

Myers, N., and R. Tucker. 1987. Deforestation in Central America: Spanish Legacy and North American Consumers. Environmental Review, Spring 1987, 55-71.

Forthcoming Works

If an article has been accepted for publication by a journal but has not yet appeared, forthcoming stands in place of the year and the page numbers. Any article not yet accepted should be treated as an unpublished manuscript.

(Researcher and Assistant, forthcoming)

Researcher, A. A., and B. B. Assistant. Forthcoming. Article Title. Journal Name 103.

Newspaper Article (Printed and Online)

Newspaper articles are commonly cited in notes or parenthetical citations. A list of works cited need not list newspaper items if these have been documented in the text. No corresponding entry in a reference list would be needed for the following citation:

In an article on rampage killers (New York Times, April 10, 2000), Laurie Goodstein and William Glaberson describe...

If for some reason, an entry were included, it would appear as follows:

(Mitchell and Bruni 2001)

Mitchell, Alison, and Frank Bruni. 2001. Scars Still Raw, Bush Clashes With McCain. New York Times, March 25, 2001.

Citations to online newspapers or news articles posted by news services are identical to their print counterparts, with the addition of a URL and the date the information was accessed.

Unsigned Newspaper Article

Unsigned newspaper articles or features are best dealt with in text or notes. But if a reference list entry should be needed, the name of the newspaper stands in place of the author.

Letters and other Communications in Published Collections

A reference to a letter, memorandum, or similar communication in a published collection begins with the names of the sender and the recipient, in that order, followed by a date and sometimes the place where the communication was prepared. The word letter is unnecessary, but other forms, such as reports or memoranda, should be specified. The title of the collection is given in the usual form for a book.

In a letter to Charles Milnes Gaskell from London, March 30, 1868 (Adams 1930, 141), Adams wrote...

Adams, Henry. 1930. Letters of Henry Adams, 1858-1891. Ed. Worthington Chauncey Ford. Boston: Houghton Mifflin.

Unpublished Letters or Personal Communications

In parenthetical citations the terms “personal communication” (or “pers. comm.”), “unpublished data,” and the like are used after the name(s) of the person(s) concerned, following a comma. Reference list entries are unneeded. The abbreviation “et al.” should be avoided in such citations.

Interview

In whatever form interviews or personal communications exist—published, broadcast, preserved in audiovisual form, available online—the citation normally begins with the name of the person interviewed or the person from whom the communication was received. The interviewer or recipient, if mentioned, comes second.

Published Interview

An interview that has already been published or broadcast is treated like an article in a periodical or a chapter in a book.

Bellour, Raymond. 1979. Alternation, Segmentation, Hypnosis: Interview with Raymond Bellour. By Janet Bergstrom. Camera Obscura, nos. 3-4: 89-94.

Unpublished Interview

Unpublished interviews are best cited in text but they occasionally appear in reference lists. Citations should include the names of both the person interviewed and the interviewer; brief identifying information, if appropriate; the place or date of the interview (or both, if known); and, if a transcript or tape is available, where it may be found.

Format of Graphs, Illustrations and Tables

The initial manuscript submission to the JBS may include graphs and illustrations within the text. Once a manuscript is accepted by the editors for publication, it is the responsibility of authors to submit all graphs and illustrations separately and in the proper electronic format. Authors may wish to provide graphs and illustrations to JBS specifications at the time of original submission of the manuscript in order to avoid delays.

If authors do not or cannot provide illustrations, the JBS will have these prepared and will bill the author for the cost of their production.

Graphs and Illustrations

Graphs may be placed in the text for positioning, but a separate electronic file must be provided in its native file format (such as Excel —*.xls— or equivalent) with its accompanying data. At times, adjustments need to be made due to space limitations and/or grayscale issues, thus requiring corresponding data.

Illustrations may be placed in the text for positioning, but a separate electronic file must be provided in its native file format. Acceptable formats are EPS, JPEG, TIFF or AI (Adobe Illustrator). These illustrations should be 300 dpi or greater in resolution and may be submitted in black and white or grayscale.

Size

All illustrations and tables, including titles, legends and notes, must fit within the printable area of the JBS. The area is 4.75 inches (12.065 centimeters) wide by 7.75 inches (19.685 centimeters) high. The margins provided previously in the “Preparation of Copy,” are a good approximation and should be used as a guide for orientation (portrait or landscape), size, readability and placement of these items.

Fonts

The preferred font for illustrations titles and legends is Helvetica/Arial at 8 point.

Frames

Graphs and illustrations should not be enclosed in frames. Appropriate framing will be done at the time of production editing.

Titles and Legends

Tables should be titled and numbered consecutively with Arabic numerals. The title should be in Helvetica/Arial at 8 point, bold, and in initial capitals and lowercase. The legend should be placed at the bottom in Helvetica/Arial at 8 point and in initial capitals and lowercase.

Punctuation should be as in the following example:

Table 1. Per Capita Income in Border Counties

All other illustrations (maps, diagrams, charts, and graphs) should be labeled as “Figure” and numbered consecutively in Arabic numerals.

For example:

The title should be located at the top of the illustration and centered in Helvetica/Arial at 8 point and in initial capitals and lowercase. The legend should be placed at the bottom in the same typeface and point size.

Questions Regarding Illustrations

For more information with regard to illustration requirements and formats, contact JBS Production Editor Emmanuel Brunet-Jailly (ebrunetj@uvic.ca). Please review illustrations in recent issues of the Journal of Borderlands Studies for examples.

Spelling

Our spelling authority is Webster’s Third New International Dictionary. The Editors assume that all manuscripts have been proofed for errors, spelling accuracy, and consistency prior to submission. In addition, it is important that authors determine the proper use of accents and diacriticals and use these consistently in their manuscripts.

Languages

The JBS accepts manuscripts in English only.
